Easy to dress in Kimono by yourself!
Separate Kimono will enrich your daily life!

How to put on a Kimono Obi

1. Adjust the rubber belt length

Prepare the readymade Kimono Obi. Wrap the rubber belt around your waist, and adjust its length a little tightly with the buckle. Otherwise, Kimono Obi will be loose.

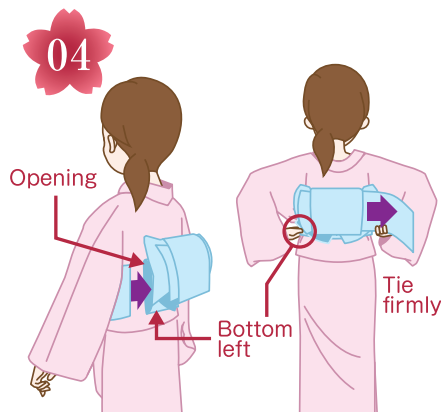

2. Fasten the rubber belt

Wrap the rubber belt around the waist and hook it at the front.

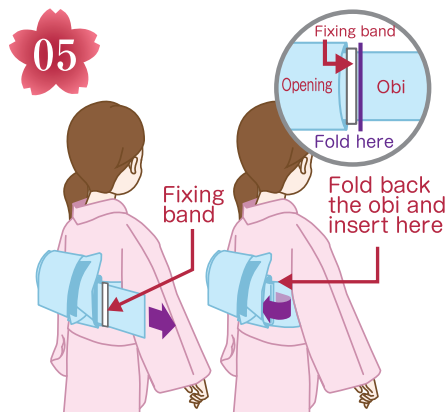

3. Wrap the Obi

Hold the Obi with the right hand, and wrap it around the front waist and pass it to the left hand.

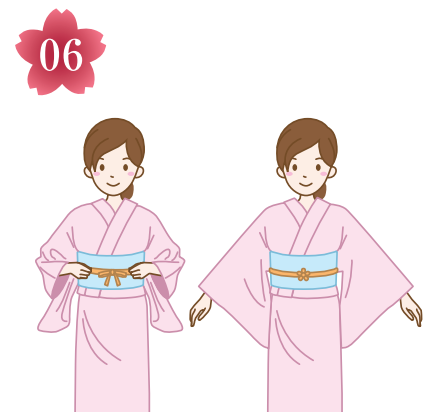

4. Adjust the Obi length

Put through the right hand into the opening behind the back bow, and pull out the end of Obi, and bring it to the right side. While holding the bottom left, fix the belt tight by pulling it well toward the right side.

5. Fasten the Obi

After letting Obi go through the fixing band, fold back the obi at the purple vertical line in the picture, and tuck Tesaki into the opening behind the back bow.

Decorate the Obi (※Optional items)

Tie Obijime cord and put Obi brooch on it if you like.

Adjust the shape and it's finished.

Adjust the shape to look balanced and symmetry.

It's more easy if you fasten the Obi at front, and then rotate it clockwise with 180 degree to the back.

We recommend that you will NOT do machine washing. At the cleaning, spread a little spray water, and put a cotton towel over it. Air dry outdoors on a hanger away from direct sunlight.
